DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

1. Applicant's election of claims 26-29 in the reply filed on March 9, 2005 is acknowledged. Because applicant did not distinctly and specifically point out the supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election has been treated as an election without traverse (MPEP § 818.03(a)).

Double Patenting

2. The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. See In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and, In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent is shown to be commonly owned with this application. See 37 CFR 1.130(b).

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

3. Claims 26-29 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-18 of U.S. Patent No. 6,534,103. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because claims 26-29 of the present application differ from claims 1-18 in the '103 patent primarily on the basis of an obvious variation in scope. Claim 26 of the present application is of broader scope than claim 7 of the '103 patent and thus the instant claims essentially read on the invention defined by the patent claims.

4. Claims 26-29 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over claims 1-6 of U.S. Patent No.

6,352,731. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because claims 26-29 of the present application differ from claims 1-18 in the '731 patent primarily on the basis of an obvious variation in scope.

Claim 26 of the present application is of broader scope than claim 3 of the '731 patent and thus the instant claims essentially read on the invention defined by the patent claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

6. Claims 26-29 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Art Unit: 1761

7. Claim 26 recites a "first temperature control" and a "second temperature control". It is not clear what the term "temperature control" refers to. For instance, it is not clear whether the term would encompass separate algorithms or control programs, separate circuits or control devices, separate control schedules, or even separate heat sources.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

8. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

9. Claims 26-28 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by VandeWalker [Pat. No. 4,182,229].

VandeWalker teaches a method of popping corn by inherently heating a kettle according to a first cold-start temperature control schedule starting from ambient temperature and popping an initial batch of corn, maintaining the kettle at 300°F between batches (column 5, line 53), heating the kettle according to a second control schedule wherein the starting temperature is 300°F (column 5, line 61), and the first and second schedules inherently having maximum temperatures.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

10. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

Art Unit: 1761

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

11. Claim 29 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over VandeWalker.

VandeWalker teaches the above mentioned concepts as well as the maximum temperatures varying between 390-425°F (column 5, line 66). VandeWalker does not specifically recite the first temperature being greater than the second temperature. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use a higher temperature for the first batch of VandeWalker since this would have been done during the course of normal experimentation and optimization, since VandeWalker already taught varying the cooking temperature (column 5, line 66), since VandeWalker teach that a higher temperature reduces the cooking time (column 6, line 1), and since a higher first temperature would have resulted in a quicker starting time and thus reduced the wait time for popcorn to become available.

Response to Arguments

12. Applicant's arguments with respect to newly filed claims 26-29 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

13. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP

Art Unit: 1761

§ 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
